Fasting defined: Abstaining from food for a specified period for spiritual enrichment

Helpful hints for during your fast

The main objective in fasting is to draw closer to God. Each person has a different reason for fasting based upon their life's circumstances and where they are at in their Spiritual journey. Some fast to obtain clarity on significant decisions, breaking fleshly strongholds or even preparation for ministry. Every good thing flows out of intimacy with Jesus. Fasting enables us to cleanse the sanctuary of our hearts from every other rival, preparing our hearts for encounter with God.

Plan to set aside dedicated quiet time to draw near to God. Read the Bible. Pray. Expect to hear God's voice. God is looking to reveal Himself to you. Fasting opens up our heart to receive more of Him.

Spiritual breakthroughs often come after a fast, not just during it. Do not listen to the lie that nothing is happening. Every fast done in faith is rewarded.

Note: "If you can deny yourself craving for food, you can train your body to deny any pleasure"

Don't boast about your fast. Let people know you won't be eating, only if you need to.

Do the fast with others. Have a clear target as your prayer focus.

Prepare for opposition. On the day of your fast, you can bet donuts will be at the office or in class. Your spouse (or your mom) will suddenly be inspired to cook your favorite meals. Press through.

If you fail, don't give in to condemnation. Even though you may fail several times, God always extends grace. Just hit the "delete" button and continue on your fast.

Feel free to rest a lot and continue to exercise with supervision.

If you are under 18 years of age, discuss your desire to fast with your parents. Spiritual covering, submission, and unity are important factors when fasting.

Verses on Fasting

“In those days I, Daniel, was mourning three full weeks. I ate no pleasant food, no meat or wine came into my mouth, nor did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.”

- Matthew 6:16–18 (NKJV) — 16 “Moreover, when you fast, do not be like the hypocrites, with a sad countenance. For they disfigure their faces that they may appear to men to be fasting. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. 17 But you, when you fast, anoint your head and wash your face, 18 so that you do not appear to men to be fasting, but to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.
- Matthew 9:14–15 (NKJV) — 14 Then the disciples of John came to Him, saying, “Why do we and the Pharisees fast often, but Your disciples do not fast?” 15 And Jesus said to them, “Can the friends of the bridegroom mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast.
- Luke 2:37 (NKJV) — 37 and this woman was a widow of about eighty-four years, who did not depart from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day.
- Acts 13:2–3 (NKJV) — 2 As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the Holy Spirit said, “Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.” 3 Then, having fasted and prayed, and laid hands on them, they sent them away.

Types of Fasts

- Daniel Fast – Fruits and vegetables (can be prepared in a variety of ways) are eaten through duration of Fast
- Juice Fast – Juices are consumed through the duration of Fast
- Water Fast – Water is consumed through the duration of Fast

Important medical information: Years of fasting incorrectly can cause permanent physical damage to your body. These negative effects are not typically felt at a young age, but they will accumulate after years of fasting.

For people who have struggled with eating disorders in the past, fasting should be done with wisdom and caution. Fasting should never be used for weight loss and it is important to enter back into healthy eating after fasting.

If you have a diagnosed illness and/or are taking prescription medicine, fasting should only be done with the permission and supervision of your health practitioner.

Foods to include in your diet during the Daniel Fast

Water and Juice Fasts

Prior to your fast

Many people have done a water and juice-only fast. For those who have a limited history of long term fasting, we would not encourage this fast for 21 days. A water-only fast can be noticeably more difficult than a water and juice-only fast, however many people find that they prefer to fast with water-only for fasts less than ten days.

Prepare your body for the fast by eating fresh fruit and raw vegetables, fruit or vegetable juices, oatmeal, etc. a day or two before beginning the actual fast. Eat smaller meals a few days prior to the fast and avoid high-fat and sugary foods. Eating light the day before the fast will help your body to adjust more gradually.

During your fast

Juice fasting: Drink 100% fruit juices such as apple, grape, peach or pineapple, which are excellent sources of necessary natural sugar to stabilize blood sugar and keep energy levels up. Orange and grapefruit juice are good as well, but these are not recommended for arthritis or allergy sufferers. Monitor juice acidity carefully as it can cause canker sores. Raw vegetable juices such as carrot, celery, beet or green vegetable combinations are excellent as well (Not V8), 100% vegetable juices only, without added sugars, salt or preservatives. A fruit or vegetable juice fast allows you to enter into fasting but still gives enough energy to function. Many people have done a 40-day (or more) juice fast.

Drink plenty of water. Drinking at least half of your body weight in ounces of water per day (example: 150lbs=75oz./day). Distilled water is most beneficial, but filtered and purified water also works well.

It is wise to abstain from strong stimulants such as caffeinated and sugary drinks during a fast, including artificial sweeteners found in diet drinks. Avoid protein drinks, which have been known to cause health problems during a fast.

Expect some physical discomforts because of the detoxification process, especially on the second and third day. Physical annoyances may include: weariness, nausea, abdominal cramps, hunger pains, headache, and sleepiness, but press through it. It is part of the detoxification process. By day four and five on a juice or water fast, you will get some relief.

How to break your fast

Break your fast gradually, especially if you have fasted for more than three days. At this point you will need to exercise self-control. Break your fast on a meal that is light and easy to digest (i.e. grapes, a shredded apple, watermelon, steamed vegetables, or a baked potato).

A fast of three days or more should never be broken by eating a normal meal (including animal proteins, bread, sugar, dairy, and/or processed foods) because these heavy foods put a severe strain and shock on the digestive organs which have been resting throughout the fast. Eating too heavily after a fast can produce serious discomfort, and even damage your body!

After breaking an extended fast (10-21 days), continue drinking fruit or vegetable juices because your body is continuing to detoxify.

During any fast exceeding three days, your stomach will shrink. Do not over-expand it again by overeating. If you have been prone to eat too heavily, guard against going back to this habit. If you train yourself to eat more lightly, your stomach will adjust itself accordingly.
